The Daily Midget
Cameron, Texas
Dear Mr. Editor

It is with great bereavement we witness the death of the sixteen year old Daily Midget.

The "Midget" has become a beloved institution in Cameron these years it has been with us. The little paper and its parents have had to take a lot of kidding at times for human mistakes. Now we can look back on its real value as our only source of daily news about our friends and neighbors.

Thanks to the staff for the service of supplying the news these past years and accept our appology for not letting you know of our appreciation of the "Midget" while it was alive.

We trust that our 10 publishing days of penance will be rewarded by a resurrection of The Daily

Sincerely yours,

George Bowman

Clay Samples Sought By C of C To Satisfy Industrial Inquiry

Bill Burns, President of the Chamber of Commerce, announced this week that the Chamber is still in search of clay samples and they are needed immediately. Samples may be brought to the Chamber of Commerce office in ten pound quanities and from there samples will be shipped to the engineering company. Burns said that in a letter received Monday, the president of the company stated that they are looking for a very light gray clay with practically no color in it. It is the color in the clay that indicates the presence of iron content and fires to a buff color. A dark buff color is fine if there is a nearly white to go with it

Burns says "Our Industrial Committee is working very hard to secure samples for this company in hopes of finding a suitable clay for them. We know Cameron and surrounding communities would welcome an industry for Cameron and we need your help to locate chistype clay in the county. Industrial Development for Cameron cannot depend on Chamber efforts alone, it must be the town working together, then and only then can we see a future industrial development for "our town."

Payrolls For Cameron-Camp ! ! ! Can Start With Hi-way 36 Program

That Community Spirit is not a factor in securing of highway 36 right of way was vehemently denied by Mayor Horstmann following City Council Tuesday night.

In meeting the council "pointed with pride" to those who have already come to terms on their property along the proposed 80 foot highway but lamented that several problems in obtaining 100 percent of the right of way still stand in their way of meeting the January 1 deadline.

Councilmen Gene Blake and Robert Weems with the able and tireless efforts of E. A. Perrin have succeeded in amicable settlements with many of the property holders already signed up the Mayor said. They are to be commended for their work and the property holders already signed have displayed the civic pride which can ultimately make Cameron a much better city in which to live said Mayor Horstmann. "Waco and Dallas were not very advanced only few years ago but civic pride took root and look at their payrolls today," said the mayor as he took a long look at the current INDUSTRIAL undertone which is swelling in Cameron. Highways, like railroads and airlines are necessary for development of industry the mayor believes and if Cameron can hand to the state highway department the 80 foot right of way by their deadline it will mean that Cameron is on the march the city official believes.

A committee from the Cameron Riding Club composed of spokesman John S. Batte, Bill Marek and Dr. Lyle McDermott offered to recondition the old livestock arena and the abandoned Boy Scout Hut in Wilson-Ledbetter Park in return for a two-year lease at a $1. consideration. The lease agreement was accepted with minor mendment by Councilman Thompson. The Riding Club spokesman asserted that their club would not be averse to lending the property to responsible organizations. Councilmen were agreed that the public property would be better off in the protective custody of the lease applications and voted unanimously for the agreement, as drawn by attorney Bill Black.

The payment of the city portion of the City-County Health Unit expense shall be paid annually by vote of the council.

Bids on street improvements on parts of 10th, 11th., Lamar and Milam will be opened on Nov. 22 the street committee reported. Contacting of property owners will begin immediately.

Granting of right-of-way to the Gas company for extension of lines into the Zarosky addition was considered. Councilman Thompson's motion carried to have Superintendent of Public Works Bigbee survey the city property in that area and in concert with the legal department determine where the line can be laid. This legal clearance then will make it possible then for the Gas Company to go forward with the extension.

Work on airport property which will cost the city $62.50 plus painting was voted to be carried out by a local contractor.

Texas Baptists Set $300,000 Goal For Thanksgiving Fund

A special offering for 1,081 children will be taken in Texas Baptist churches during Thanksgiving week, Baptist officials said last Thursday n Dallas.

The goal of the offering, to be divided among five children's homes over the state, is $300,000.

The day of Sunday, Nov. 20, has been designated for particular emphasis in the 3,625 churches of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

But in addition to the offering, both before and after Nov. 20, individual members as well as churches are expected to send other gifts of food, clothing and necessities for the children's use.

The five institutions which will receive the gifts are the Buckner Orphans Home at Dallas, the Texas Baptist Haven at Round Rock, the South Texas Childrens Home at Beeville, the Buckner Boys Ranch at Burnett and the Mexican Baptist Orphans Home at San Antonio.

For the first time in their history two of the Baptist orphanages this year have had to borrow money for current operating expenses.

Officials estimate that it takes between $69 and $90 per month to care for one child. So the combined operating expenses of the homes are more than $80,000 each month.

The children's homes, with one exception, have no guaranteed income of any sort and are not included in the cooperative program through which Texas Baptists support and endow most of their other institutions.

No gift, however small, is turned down by the homes. The children's needs are so many and so varied that in addition to cash funds, they can also use such things as musical instrument playground equipment, furnitur school supplies, lumber scholarships, canned goods and used clothes.

For the children, Thanksgiving and Christmas hold special significance. They have been called "the children of tragedy." Almost without exception, they come from broken or destitute homes.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Seen Monk's "Better Half"?

Monk McCarthy's latest creation has the town talking again. You can see it parked in front of Monk's auto repair shop on Maple.

Remember last year Monk cut two cars in half, and put their front ends together? You couldn't tell if the thing was coming or going. Sure attracted attention.

Now Monk's taken Tog Morgan's old sedan and completely restored one half of it. One side is as good as new, the other looks like—well, Tog's old car. "Sort of a before-and-after demonstration," Monk told me, "shows folks the kind of work I do."

From where I sit, some of Monk's ideas may look a little wild sometimes . . . but I wouldn't want to tell him how to run his business any more than I'd like him to tell me what beverage to enjoy. He always keeps a hot pot of tea in his garage—I'd rather have a cold glass of beer—but respect for each other's opinion is "auto"-matic with us both.

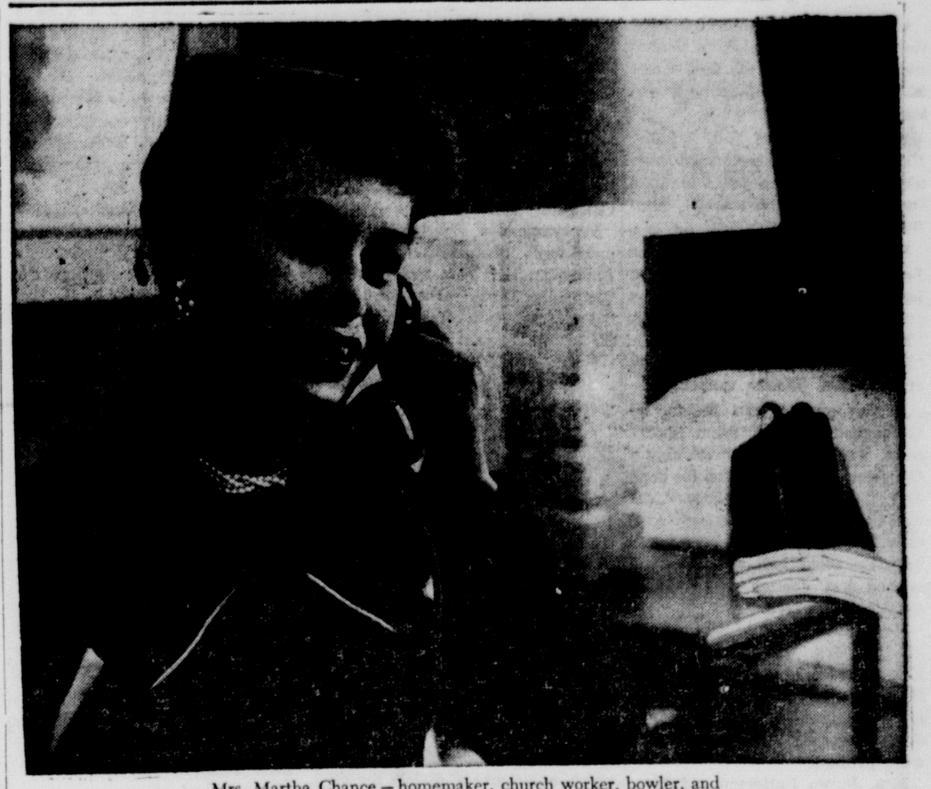
SHE KEPT A DIARY OF TELEPHONE CALLS



Mrs. Martha Chance—homemaker, church worker, bowler, and keeper of a telephone diary that revealed an important fact.

Mrs. Chance finds the telephone a young homemaker's best friend

What one service helps the homemaker through busy days more different ways than any other?

Mrs. Martha Chance is sure she knows the answer. Her telephone. Mrs. Chance recently kept a week-long diary of telephone calls made and received in her home. The results surprised her.

Mrs. Chance listed 95 calls during the week. Not only did her calls save time and energy in managing her home, but many were actually the start of a pleasant afternoon or evening out.

In Mrs. Chance's own words, "It's so easy to take your telephone for granted. You just don't realize how much it means to you until you stop and think about it as I have."

Mrs. Chance is right. Telephone service is a busy homemaker's best friend.

SOUTHWESTERN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

Typical calls from Mrs. Chance's diary

"Called the Millers about going to the civic play tonight."
"Called Lee (my husband) about plans for family reunion."
"My bowling partner called about a change in league schedule."
"Our minister called to remind me of Sunday School meeting."
"Called a friend in the country. Asked her to put aside four dozen eggs for me."

How to be sure you are making the best buy in a new truck

A new truck is an important investment. If you want to be sure you're getting the best buy, you've got to consider a lot of things: price, power, operating economy, good appearance—to mention only a few.

Take price, for instance. Wouldn't it help you to know that you can buy a Dodge for surprisingly little money? Could be you didn't know Dodge trucks cost less than most other makes.

Wouldn't it help you, too, to get the whole picture on truck power? The fact that Dodge Power-Dome V-8's outpower every other leading truck in the low- and medium-tonnage fields surely is important to your decision.

And there are other Dodge advantages you'll want to think about—like the business-building beauty of Forward Look styling, and the long life that spreads low initial cost over years of dependable service.

It all adds up to this: To be sure of your best truck buy, take a few minutes to talk to your Dodge dealer. Just a phone call will put the wheels in motion.

Soil Conservation District News

Supervisors: Edwin Fischer, A. W. Butts, Paul C. Graves, Clarence L. Stock and Hal Hartrick.

Little bluestem grass seed stems were cut and scattered on test plots on Dr. J. J. Parmelee and on Howard Debus farms. The former plot was made up of post oak sand about 10-12 inches deep with a clay base at that depth. The latter plot was deep blow sand. Since little bluestem is about the best grass for range plantings, these test plots were put out to determine how successful a stand a could be and from scattering the hay with ripe seed on the ground.

Seed did not mature well this season and the only place were local seed was available was from individual clumps on the deep sand or in wet places. A pickup bed full will plant approximately 1 acre. This amount of grass can be cut in about 1 hour. Seed hay can be scattered out now and will come up in the spring. If the seed is planted, it is best to use a grass drill planter or scarify the ground when the seed is planted and be sure that the seed comes in contact with the ground. However, planting is only the first step. The grass should not be grazed the first season and there after it should be grazed properly. One method of grazing is to graze it from frost until about June 1. This method gives the grass a chance to develop seed each year and to go into the winter season with a good cover and an abundance of food stored in the root system. The other method consist of stocking at a rate that will leave a cover on the ground all year and will leave about ¼ of the seed heds ungrazed. In order to realize a profit on a thin stand of little bluestem pasture it should be grazed in the spring so that the cattle will eat out the annual vegetation that competes with the grass and to get any browse hat may be in the pasture.

The bale of Bermuda grass hay that has been on display at the fair and in front of the Soil Conservtion Service office here in Rockdale was destroyed by fire this week. Thanks to Jack Moore for dragging it into the street and dousing it with water. This bale of hay was grown on sandy land after it had been fertilized and planted to vetch. All of the land in the district will grow Bermuda grass, except a few very tight spots and in very rocky or gravelly areas. Bermuda grass will not grow on any land unless it is high in fertility. Planting of vetch winter peas, or any of the clovers stimulates the Bermuda grass to a good growth but if the land is low in some of the essential elements they must be put it. To find out what you need to put in and how much, a soil analysis must be made. Bermuda will usually come in and make a stand where virgin timber is cleared. It usually comes in after a cover crop has been grown for a few years. And, when corn or oats is heavily fertilized. Bermuda will come in, if given a chance.

Cooperators with the Taylor Soil Conservation District that have recently completed ponds for stock water and for grazing distribution are: Eddie Noak, 3 mi. S. of Rockdale; J. A. Ely, Jr., Gause; Carrol Robertson and Arnold Doss, Rockdale; and Paul Moerbe, Thorndale, Texas.

THE LITTLE RIVER PHILOSOPHER SAYS NEW FANGLED TELEVISION BANKING WILL BE WASTED ON MEN LIKE HIM

Editor's note: The Little River Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on the Little River is discussing banking or television this week, we can't tell which.

Dear editar:

I was sitting by the fire during the cold snap the other night reading through some newspapers I'd accumulated so they'd be ready to start a new fire with in th morning, if it came down to a choice, I'd rather start a fire with an un-read paper before I'd go cold but if a man plans ahead he can get his papers read and his fire started both, an one of the articles I ran into drew my attention.

According to it, the uses of television are being expanded to the business world, and one of the new uses will be in banks.

With this new television gadget say a man walks up to the window to cash a check and the teller ain't sure whether he has enough money on deposit to swing it. Instead of having to walk back to the ledger sheets and find out he now has to only flip a switch, ask a helper in the back to bring the camera into position and right there on a small television screen by his side he can get a look at the ledger sheet without ever having climbed off his stool.

This is supposed to save a lot of time, but to my notion it just goes to show how technical progress is getting ahead of some bank customers.

Take me, When I walk into my bank in Cameron and ease up to the teller's window, there ain't no doubt in his mind over what my bank balance is. If the bank had one of these new gadgets, he could look it up on television, but it'd just be a waste of electricity as he already knows.

I'm in favor of scientific progress, but I don't see much point in science getting so far ahead of me. Buying a lot of television apparatus to look up what my bank blaance is gonna be a big waste of money. It'd be sort of like x-raying a man from head to foot before you started treating him for an in-growing toenail.

Sometimes science simplifies life, sometimes it just makes it more complicated.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Lyndon Wouldn't Be Here Except For Research He Says

Senator Lyndon B. Johnson

Senator Lyndon Johnson will serve as the state chairman of the 1956 Texas Heart Fund during February, it has been announced by Dr. Kleberg Echardt of Corpus Christi, president of the Texas Heart Association.

Seuator Johnson who now is recuperating at his Texas home from the effects of a severe heart attack he suffered last July 2, accepted the chairmanship of the February Heart Fund campaign with the statement:

"During recent months I have had reason to become personally aware of the scope of the life-saving work made possible by the voluntary contributions of funds for use in research into heart disease.

"In all seriousness, I doubt that I would be here now except for the application of medical knowledge gained from such research prior to the heart attack I suffered last July.

"The money contributed to the Texas Heart Fund, which is an integral factor in the work of the Texas and American Heart Associations, is an investment in human lives. I am confident that the people of Texas will make such an investment in generous measure this year, as they have in the past.

"This is a cause in which all of us can work together for the good of humanity. I know Texans will not fail to meet this challenge."

Church Wedding Will Be Setting Here For Horstmann-Spilman

An invitation went in the mails Tuesday to out of town friends, requesting their presence at the marriage of Miss Shirley Mae Horstmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Bismarck Horstmann, to Calvin Curtis Spilman on Saturday the twenty-sixth of November 1955.

The same invitation is being extended locally to friends of the bride only though the Press.

The wedding will be at eight o'clock in the evening at First Methodist Church in Cameron. The invitation includes attendance at the reception following the ceremony in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

Monroe H. Fuchs, Cameron, has been named president of the Poultry Science Club at Texas A. and M. College.

Other officers elected include Earl Geddes, Lampasas, vice-president; Claude E. Larey, College Station, treasurer, and Jimmy D. Brooks, College Station, secretary.

If small grains are to be harvested for grain, grazing should be stopped between February 15 and March 1 depending upon the area of the state but regardless of the location before the plants begin to joint. Continued grazing will cut grain yields.

"Disability Freeze" In Social Security Law Ups Incomes

When the "disability freeze" provision became a part of the Social Security Act, it offered, in many instances, substantially increased benefit amounts to disabled persons meeting the requirements. Unti lthe freeze provision became operative, a worker who had no earnings for a prolonged period because of disability might find his social security benefits cut down considerably or lost completely b ythe time he reached 65 and was otherwise eligible to collect them. Under the new "disability freeze" provision in the law, a worker who has been totally disabled for 6 months or more with a disability which is expected to continue indefinitely, can apply to have his social securty record frozen as of the time his disability began. Then when his time comes for figuring up the monthly benefits payable to him at 65, or to his family in case of his death, the years he has not earnings because of his disability are not counted against him.

The more than 15,000 old-age beneficiaries throughout the nation receiving increased monthly benefits since last June dramatically illustrate the value of the freeze provision of the law. The average increase for this group is $11. Ten to twenty-five dollars is not unusual.

Beneficiaries receiving increased checks today were those who filed applications for the disability freeze between January 1 and July 1 of this year. Old age insurance beneficiaries who meet the requirements and apply before July 1, 1957 to have their earnings records frozen will receive any increase due in their benefit amount retroactive to July 1955.

Pork Promotion Aid To Producer

Shows Sales Up 20 Percent

1-24 and 1-10 head for this story..

Intensive newspaper advertising and store promotion of pork during the current surplus is boosting consumer buying to a point where sales at Safeway stores are already up 20 per cent. This was revealed by Milton L. Selby President of the grocery company when he announced that the special pork promotion which Safeway and other food retailers throughout the country started in September will be continued at Safeway during the current period of surplus and low prices.

"Safeway, together with other food retailers throughout the country, has just completed two special pork campaigns undertaken at the request of producers during September and October. Check of the four weeks of the first special sales effort which ended October 8 reveals that our sales of fresh pork are up over one million pounds," said Mr. Selby. "Our record throughout October shows that pork at present bargain prices is in continuing demand. To fill this demand and to further aid in reducing the present surplus, we have extended our special pork promotion for the current period of surplus."

"The pork market is an important factor in the economy of many sections of the United States," said Mr. Selby. "The present abundant supply and low prices afford consumers an opportunity to get a bargain for their famliy larder and at the same time to help reduce an uneconomic surplus of an important food."

State Trucking Industry Pledges S-D Day Support

Members of the trucking industry in Texas have pledged their complete cooperation in making Safe Driving Day, December 1, a success and have announced a goal of 100 per cent participation by employees in the industry.

In a letter to officials of the S-D Day Program in Texas, James E. Taylor, Executive Director of the Texas Motor Transportation Association stated that his industry is highly enthusiastic about the program and wishes to cooperate with the officials in every way possible to make the program a success.

Mr. Taylor pointed out that his Association has set up an industrywide plan for boosting the program. This plan consists of having over 100 safety men patrolling the roads during the 24 hour period and of holding special safety meetings to orientate employees on the S-D Day campaign.

The industry has developed special pledge sheets, posters and payroll inserts according to Mr. Taylor and many of the individual companies will have special projects to emphasize S-D Day.

"The industry," said Mr. Taylor, "is striving for 100 per cent participation by its employees whether they be professional drivers, drivers of private automobiles or pedesrians."

Mr. Taylor concluded his letter with "We are ready to demonstrate in this project as we have in the past, that the Texas trucking industry is ready to take the lead in promoting highway safety."

Jack Prescott Resigns Red Cross Post In Open Letter

Editors Note : In an open letter to the Board of Directors of the American Red Cross, in Milam County, Jack Prescott, attorney, has tendered his resignation as chairman of that body and we print herewith that letter.

November 3, 1955

TO:
Board of Directors
Milam County Chapter

This is to advise that I am resigning, effective immediately, as Chapter Chairman of the Milam County Chapter of the American Red Cross. This action is taken by me because of personal and business reasons. It has been a pleasure to work with the officials of the Chapter during my three years as its Chairman.

As my last official act, I am designating Mr. Floyd Stark, of Buckholts, Texas to be Acting as Chairman of the Chapter pending your election of my successor.

There are a number of problems confronting our Chapter at this time, including the need for a complete study of our financial situation and whether or not we will continue to have a paid Executive Secretary or go on a voluntary basis entirely. It is also necessary that we secure a Fund Chairman for 1956. These matters should be taken up by the Board in the near future for such action as is deemed necessary by the Boar.

I trust that my service as the Chapter Chairman has aided the Red Cross program in our County and I know that our Chapter will continue to grow and render the much needed services throughout our County in the future.

With best wishes and personal regards to each of you, I am,

Sincerely yours,
Jack W. Prescott

Growing plenty of soil improving crops is still the most fool proof way of increasing crop production according to Ernest Friedrich, Kelso Community five miles west of Bartlett, Texas. Friedrich offered this opinion following yield checks of crops harvested this year from his farm following various management treatments with fertilizers, fertilizer placements, tillage and legume growths. For example, top yield of upland corn this year on the Friedrich farm was 74 bushels per acre. This yield was realized from corn grown on land following two years of Madrid sweetclover. Overall average yield for the corn grown on clover land was 66 bushels per acre. A 20 percent plus yield increase over corn grown on other lands regardless of treatment. All crop yields would have been better this year, Friedrich believed, if hail damage had not been so severe.

Friedrich employs a chisel type of tillage on all cropland and follows the system of deep fertilizer placement and growth of legumes on the sides of beds with his winter cover crop acreage.

Vetch and winter peas have occupied a part in the conservation crop rotation on this farm since 1940. The sweetclovers entered the picture in 1948 in the form of Madrid Sweetclover.

"Madrid is the sweetclover for me", Friedrich states. "I use it in a 'two years of clover on the land plan.' Seems to me I get a finer, deeper, longer lasting and more complete soil conditioning effect that way."

Latest SCS Display Drouthy Soils

This week's display shows examples of two soils, soil units 1 and 5, which do not do a very good job of supplying plant needs for water and air. Both are mixed prairie soils, and are often called by such names as "tight land," "sandy tight land," "mesquite land," "hardpan land," or "12 o'clock land." They are found mostly in an area between Dry Brushy Creek and the post oak sandy land around Shiloh. Some small areas of these soils will be found in other parts of the blackland.

Soil unit 1 has a gray, loamy surface soil which contains quite a bit of clay. About ten inches below the surface of the ground, the soil changes to a very tight gray or black clay, which may contain small red "iron rocks." This soil is sticky when it is wet, but it dries out quickly and gets very hard and tight. It cracks very little when dry. The example in the display was taken from the Minzenmeyer farm two miles south of Beyersville. The other soil has a sandy loam surface, soil, which is gray or brown in color. It contains enough clay to make it very hard when it is dry, but the soil is not sticky when it is wet, unless all of the topsoil has been washed away. About twelve inches below the surface of the abruptly to a gray or black clay, which is gummy when wet, and very hard when dry. The surface soil does not crack when it is dry, but the subsoil sometimes cracks slightly.

The surface of these soils in cultivated fields or overgrazed pasture land, crust and seal very badly. These soils are deep, and hold high amounts of water and minerals, but because of the massive tight clay subsoil, plant roots are not able to grow deep enough to obtain the amounts of water and minerals they need for full production. The air content of these soils is low, which also limits production of relatively high air-requiring crops. Because of the surface sealing and dense clay subsoils, these soils take water very slowly; soil and water loss on these soils is a serious problem.

There are four main principles to follow in using these kinds of lands. First, the topsoil must be kept open. Second, the tight subsoil must be opened up as much as possible. Third, grow naive grasses or grow winter crops which will be on the land when it is most apt to have plenty of water in at least the top twelve inches or grow drought-resistant summer and low air requiring crops which mature early. Fourth keep a continuous supply of plant residues on the ground to provide food for organisms, protect the soil and reduce evaporation.

The best way of carrying out all of these principles is to grow grasses, such as King Ranch bluestem, Johnson grass, or native grasses in rotation with feed crops or keep the soil permanently in grass. Grazing or hay harvesting must be handled in such a way that the plants make enough growth each year to leave lots of litter on the ground. This cover will prevent crusting and washing. It will reduce water losses by helping to hold water on the land so that it can soak in cover of litter on these soils, lowers the soil temperature, which reduces water loss by evaporation.

Other ways of following the principles are to grow winter small grain and deep-rooted legumes mixtures, or to grow summer feed crops followed by deep or shallow rooted winter legumes such as hubam or vetch. Arrange the crop residues to keep a mulch on top of the ground to prevent soil movement and reduce evaporation.

These soils require very careful management to keep them in shape to meet the needs of plants and organisms. A continuous cover of either plants or litter, or both, is necessary. These soils should not be plowed anymore than is necessary, and especially not when they are wet. The plants have to make enough growth to furnish organic matter, and have to be on the land during the seasons of hard rains to reduce soil washing.

Talk with your electric appliance dealer about an electric range for your kitchen.

An electric range is just the thing for cooking your holiday dinner . . . and every other meal, too! Electric cooking steams in vitamins and minerals, retains natural juices in meat, is self-basting, and shrinkage is negligible. And, the cost for clean, fast, safe electric cooking is so low it will amaze you . . . less than one cent per person per meal.
